About Thurston County

Thurston County is a county located in the State of Washington. It is named after Samuel R. Thurston, the Oregon Territory's first delegate to Congress. As of the 2023 census, its population was 299,438. The county seat is Olympia. It is the county's largest city and Washington State's Capitol.

Thurston County was created out of Lewis Country by the government of Oregon Territory on January 12, 1852. At that time, it covered all the Puget Sound Region and the Olympic Peninsula. On December 22 of the same year, Pierce, King, Island and Jefferson counties were split off from Thurston County.
